

Most watched movies by families – A comparison

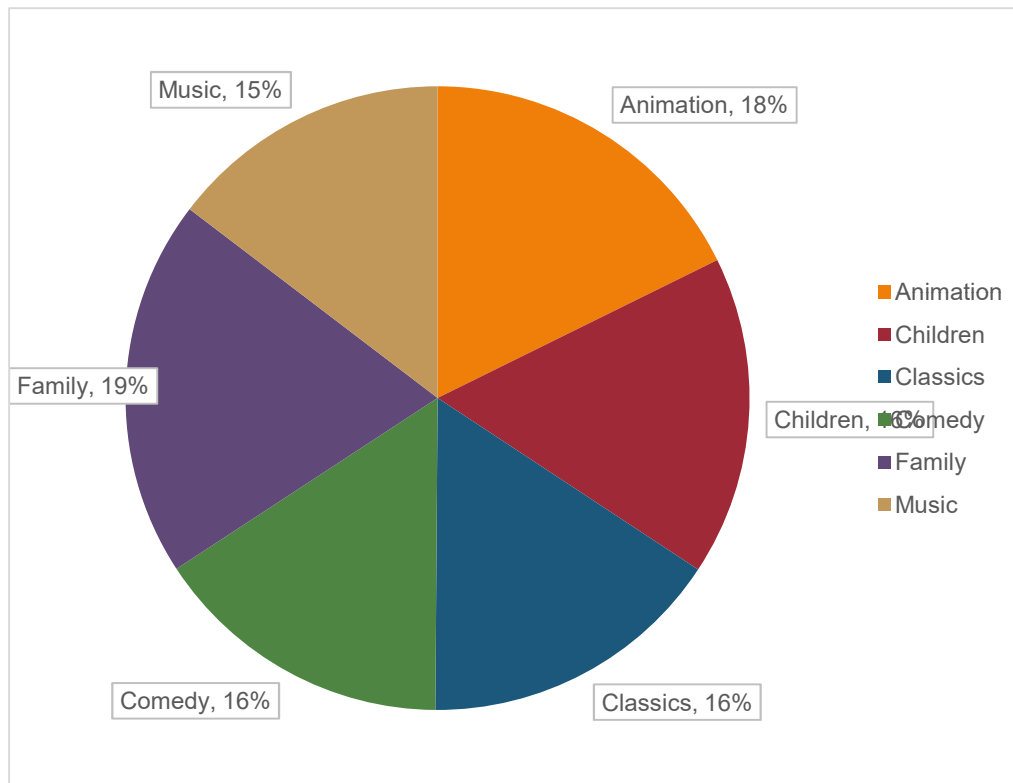

(Set 1, Question 1)

The pie chart shows that all the family category movies are almost equally watched by families, with a slightly higher percentage for animation films.

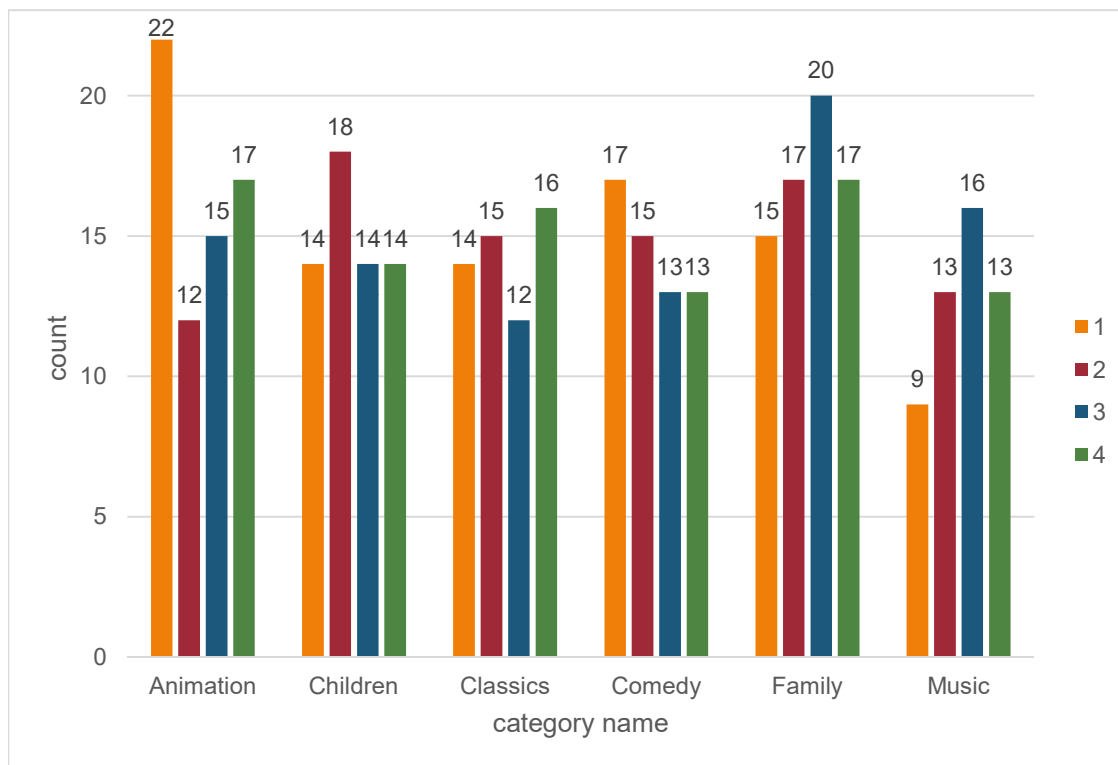

Comparison of rental duration of family friendly movies

(Set 1, Question 2)

The rental duration of these movies is also comparable as seen from the chart, with family movies having slightly higher percentage for all categories

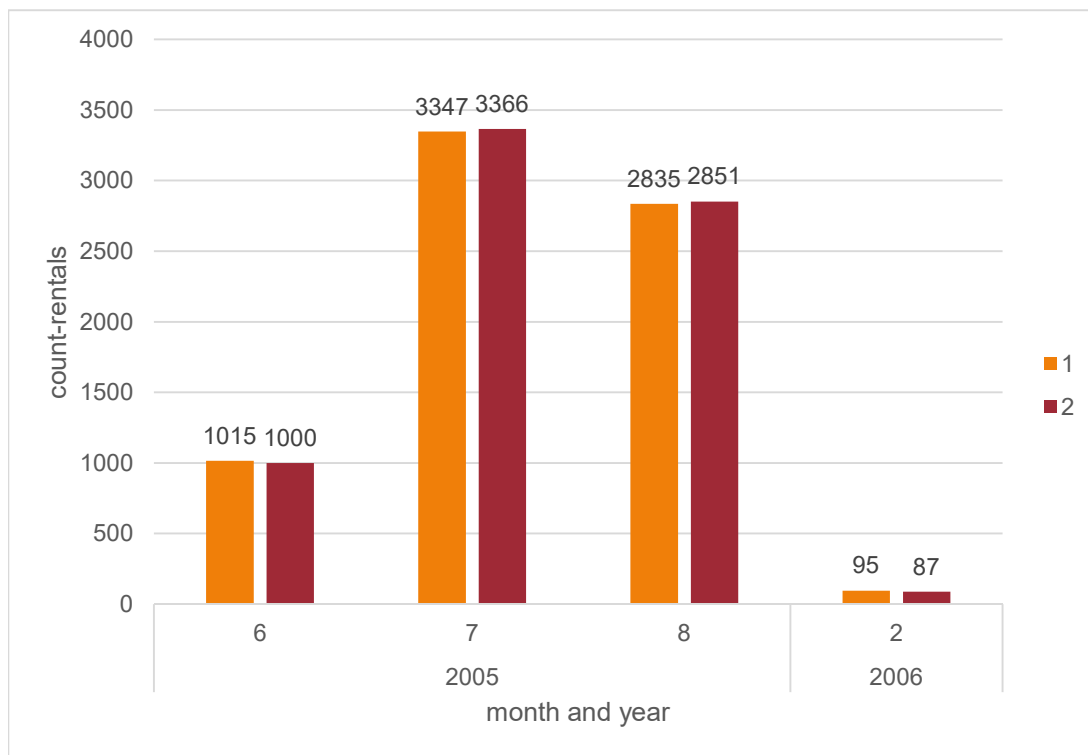

Rental count of family friendly category movies for each of the standard quartiles (Set 1, Question 3)

The chart shows that the animation film in the first quartile has the maximum rental count, with the family movie in the third quartile closely behind it. Movies in the music category has comparatively lesser rental count.

Comparison of the rental orders fulfilled by the different stores

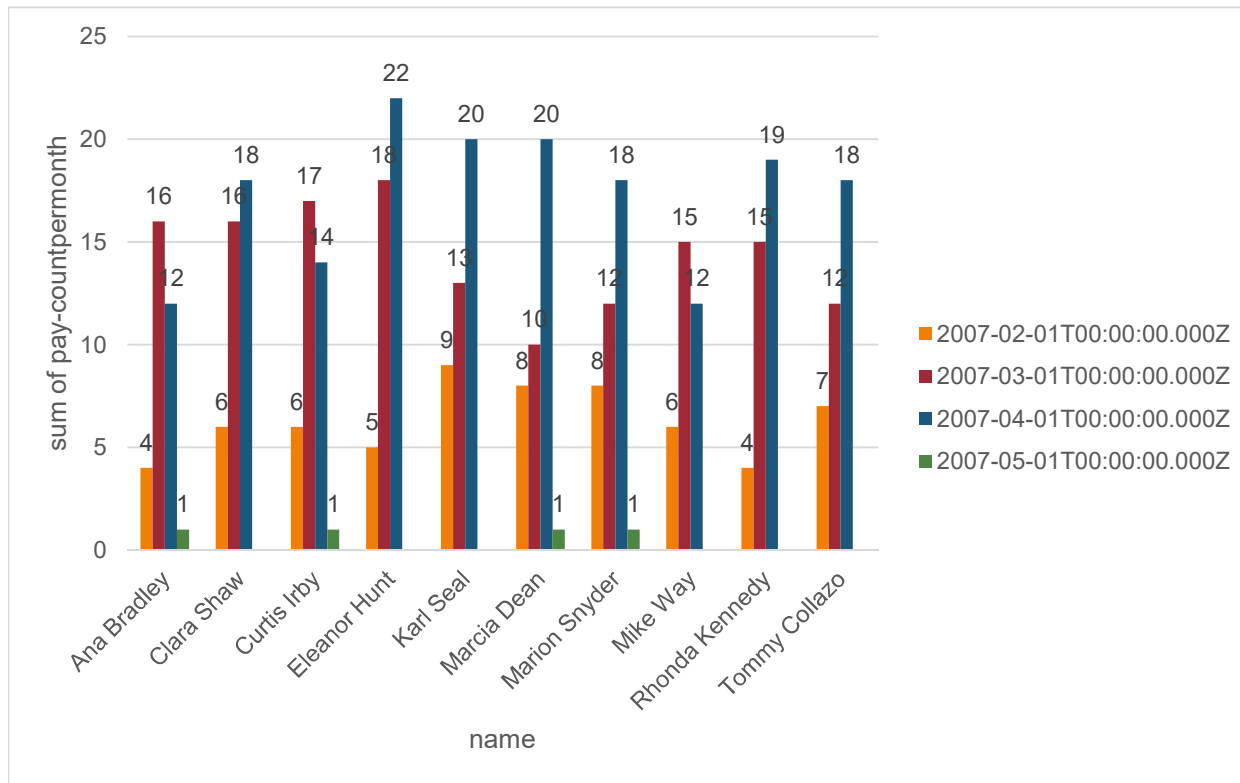

(Set 2, Question 1)

Frm the bar charts it can be seen that both the stores fared equally for all the months for which data is available.

Amount of monthly payments of top paying customers

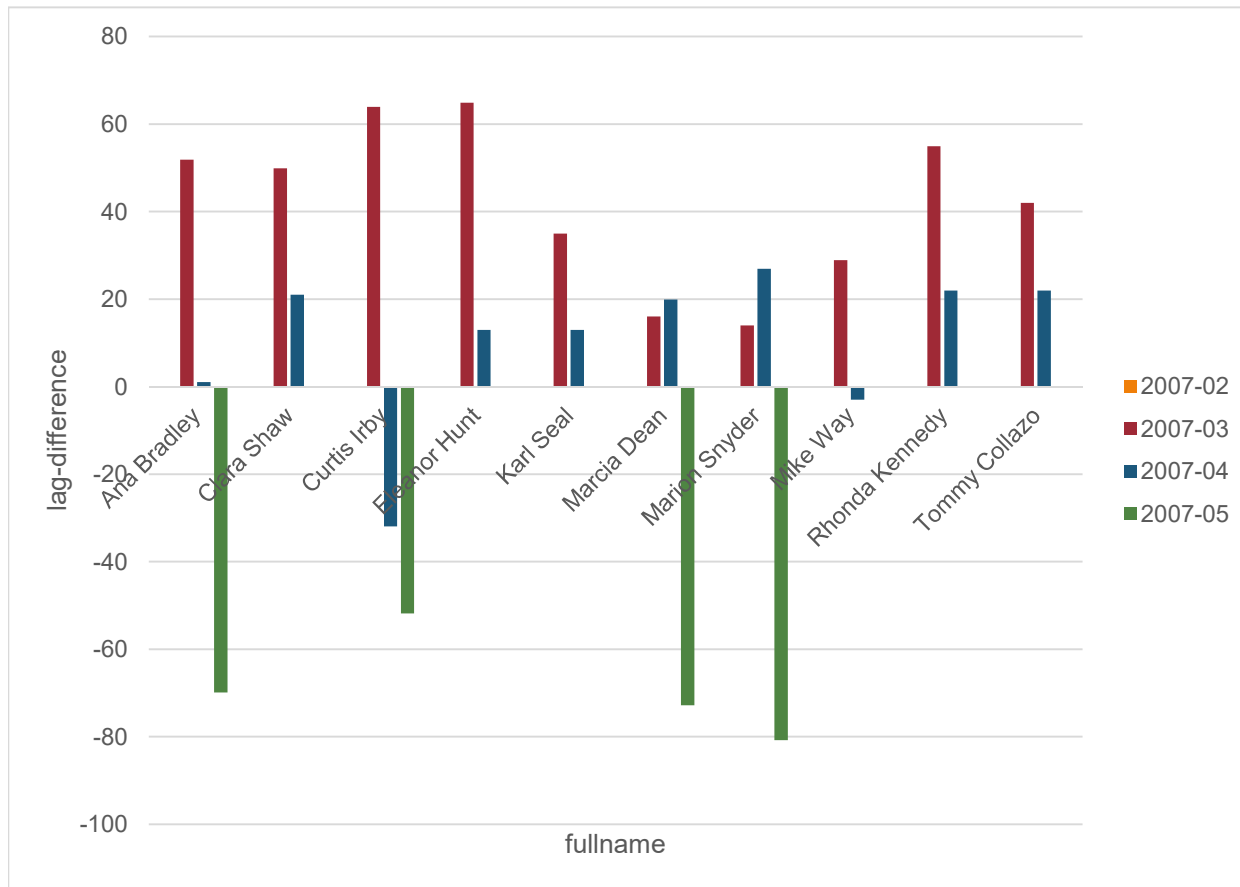

(Set 2, Question 2)

The chart shows that almost all of the top paying customers paid minimum amount in Feb-2007 and maximum amount in April 2007 and the maximum amount of $22 was paid by Eleanor Hunt in April 2007.

Comparison of the payment amounts in successive months

(Set 2, Question 2)

From the chart it can be seen that both customers Eleanor Hunt and Curtis Irby paid the maximum difference of more than $60 during March 2007.